

Isolation

We're in isolation and can't go out

A brave new world has come about

Where are we heading? no one knows

But maybe this can help us grow?

We need to start to think as one

All connected by the living sun

There's little difference between you and me

We're part of a whole that's plain to see

No need to suffer all alone

Even though we're stuck at home

Think about the words above

What we all need is a thing called LOVE
